

Navigating The KLAW Web Site

The navigation bar and menus at the top of the pages are:

Home

Landholders

Activities

Getting Involved

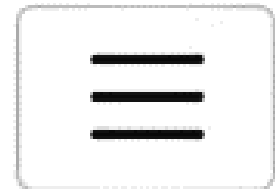

Media

Childrens' Corner

Contact KLAW

On large screens desktop and most laptops all the navigation bar / menu tabs will be visible across the top of the screen.

On some smaller screens, such as mobile phones, or small laptops/notebooks the menu tabs are not shown individually. Instead the tabs are accessed via the button on the right hand side with the horizontal bars.....

When you click the three bars the navigation bar / menu tabs will drop down and become visible and available for you to use.

For a small proportion of screens / software combinations the right-hand items on the navigation bar / menu tabs might be hidden and the drop-down menu does not show either. The hidden menu items can be displayed simply by scrolling right. They will work normally once visible. This is a common challenge for all web sites as there are so many possible combinations of screen size and software.

The KLAW web site has been tested using a wide variety of web browsers, but not every possible type. Virus protection software can also affect the way a web site looks. If the site is behaving oddly please let us know by contacting us on webproblems@KLAWonline.co.uk. If you can, please include details such as your browser, virus protection software and screen size.

Irrespective of any quirks affecting the navigation bar / menu tabs the actual content of the web site should be visible whatever size of screen is used.

The footer at the bottom of all pages includes a link to KLAW's Facebook and the KLAW contacts. The latter is an alternative to selecting Contact KLAW, at the top of each page.
